From Mayor J. Lynn Crane

I begin by acknowledging a very successful annual Easter Egg Hunt at W and M Butterfield Park on the day before Easter Sunday. I assisted a very energetic group of volunteers in serving hotdogs at the concession stand. It seemed that, for well over an hour, the long lines were five and six people abreast. It is difficult to determine exactly how many residents participated with their children; however, a conservative estimate would be three to four thousand people enjoyed the festivity. In the evening a second hunt was organized for the older youth of the community and attracted an additional six to seven hundred kids. The Herriman Lions Club and the Herriman Arts Council sponsored the morning event, and the evening event was sponsored by the Arts Council. I express my sincere appreciation to these organizations and their commitment to service and the interests of Herriman residents. Watch your schedules! The egg hunt was just one of many scheduled activities for the coming weeks and months.

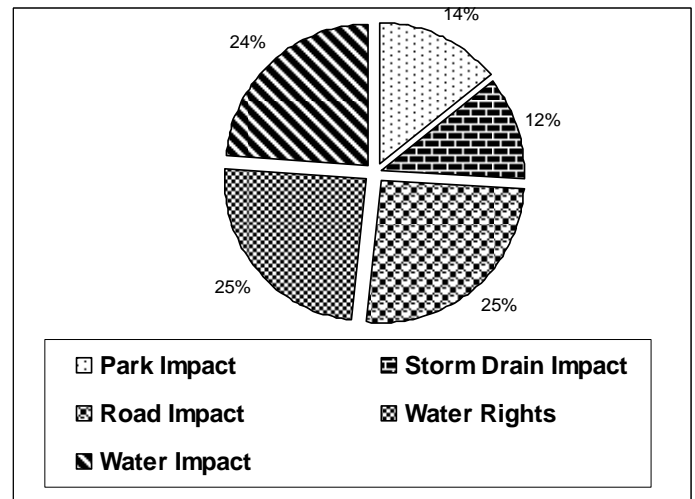

A topic of welcome news is the decision of the Utah Supreme Court filed on Tuesday, April 18. As many know, this involved a case against the City by a small group of residents disappointed with the merger of the historic Herriman Pipeline and Development Company with the Herriman Municipal Water System. They claimed unfair compensation and damages as shareholders in the Pipeline Company. After losing a decision through "summary judgment" they appealed to the Utah Supreme Court. In a resolute decision, the court voted 5 to 0 to sustain the City's claim that shareholder interests in the Pipeline provided access and use to water resources and not interests in assets or liabilities of the Company. The agreement between the City and the Company provided continued access to water and therefore no damages were sustained by any of the water users. In addition, claims against the Company Board of Directors (breach of fiduciary duty, self-dealing, unjust enrichment, and others) were judged as "derivative claims" and were dismissed. Quoting the judgment ruling, "We are unable to uncover any behavior by Defendants that was animated by a desire to injure Plaintiffs in their individual capacities." And finally, the Court denied plaintiff claims for individual relief. Hopefully, this decision answers the questions and this matter is closed. I am personally pleased with this decision. Every effort was made to protect shareholder rights and fairness in the transaction. The decision certainly vindicated the process as fair and equitable to everyone concerned.

City staff is involved with the budget process and preparing a budget for the 2006-2007 fiscal year. It is a stressful season of the City's year. As with most personal budgets, achieving balance between revenue and required expenditure is difficult. Without being very involved, many residents do not understand fully the governmental budgeting procedures. A short review may provide some information that many will find helpful and informative.

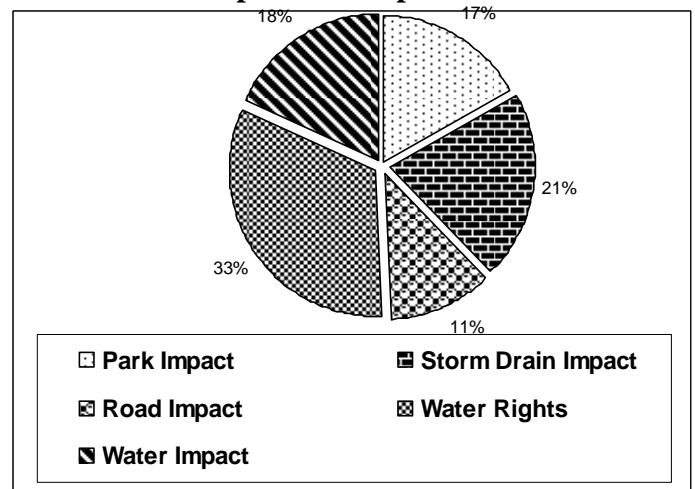

Municipalities generate revenue from primarily one of three sources. 1) General Fund Revenues. These funds are produced from property tax revenues, sales tax revenues, transportation funds generated from the state gasoline tax, developmental fees, other general fee mechanisms such as franchise fees, business fees, maintenances fees, etc. 2) Impact fees. I was recently quoted before the Planning Commission from a Newsletter of a couple of years ago as saying "the burden and impact of growth" because there is certainly impact as all of Herriman will acknowledge, "should be funded by those who generate the growth." This is a lesson learned early in Herriman's incorporation experience. We attempt to ensure that development satisfies the burden of growth with the use of "impact fees." Based on careful and complete capital facilities plans as required by law, fees are collected for transportation, water, water right, parks, and a soon to be levied fee for the construction of an additional fire station. Impact fees are "earmarked" for the purpose for which they are collected, must be expended within a defined time period, and are monitored carefully by the City and the State as well as many of the developers. 3) Enterprise funds. At the present time the only enterprise fund operated by the City is Herriman Municipal Water System. These endeavors are responsible for generating operating and maintenance funds from the enterprise and the costs for services should balance with the costs for operation, contingency funds, and long range planning.

Following are graphs illustrating some basic information about funding and spending within the community. As the population grows, increased demands for public safety commitments grows. Funding fire and police protection continues to be a primary commitment but more difficult each year. The graphs illustrate the continuing need to offset dependency on developmental revenues with more traditional revenue tools. There is always a concern about increased fees and increased taxes; however increased needs and costs for delivering high standards of service eventually necessitate increases. Increased economic development will help to satisfy this need. The numbers and percentages provided and implied in these graphs are based on the present 05 fiscal Herriman City Budget.

One additional piece of information that will be meaningful for all residents is the establishment of the Herriman Municipal Court. Late last summer the State Judicial Council approved a Justice Court for Herriman City effective July 1, 2006. The City is preparing for the startup of this court which will be conducted in the Council Chambers on Tuesday afternoon and evening of each week. Tentatively, hours for the court will be 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. each Tuesday. The Honorable Reed S. Parkin will serve as the Herriman Municipal Court Judge and the City will facilitate offices and positions required for an effective judicial system within the community.

Most of you have, no doubt, received a copy of the recent publication called the Herriman Herald. I congratulate the Finlay family on an excellent edition of their new publication. Any effort to provide more information and communication within the community is positive and worthwhile. That being said, residents will want to understand that there is no connection between the City and the Herriman Herald. While we appreciate and congratulate the effort, it is not an official publication of City policy.

Notice

Terms for some of the Planning Commissioners end each year in July. Herriman City is taking applications for vacancies on the Planning Commission when terms end. If you are interested in being considered for a seat on the Commission, please submit a resume to the Herriman City Offices by June 1st. Appointments to the Planning Commission will be made in June. This is a wonderful opportunity to be more involved in the process of new building and development.

Parks and Recreation
Danie Bills, Events Manager
Herriman City Events

With spring upon us, events and recreation are happening all over the City. Saturdays and weeknights fill the parks with soccer, baseball and softball. It is wonderful to see Herriman children playing sports, using the playgrounds, flying kites and just enjoying the outdoors.

Herriman City sponsors many events and there are always opportunities for resident involvement. On February 25th, Herriman City and the Salt Lake County Zoo, Arts, and Parks Program sponsored a Talent Show which was held at Herriman Elementary. It was a great success and there were singers, dancers, joke tellers, and pianists that performed. There was also an art exhibit displaying some of the local artist talents. The plan for next year is to hold the talent show at Fort Herriman Middle School to accommodate the participation.

Over Easter weekend, on April 15th Herriman City co-sponsored with the Herriman Lions Club the Children's Easter Egg Hunt. This year is the first time that the event was held at W & M Butterfield Park. It was a positive move to this park because of all the children that attended. It was fun to see all of the children come out so excited to hunt for Easter eggs and candy. After the hunt free hotdogs, chips and punch were served to all of the participants. Some said that hotdogs would not be eaten at 10:00 a.m., but I am here to tell you that free hotdogs and kids go together anytime. That same evening, Herriman City hosted a Teenage Flashlight Easter Egg Hunt. There were approximately 500 teenagers that came with flashlight in hand. There was music, prize drawings, money eggs and more hotdogs, chips, and doughnuts.

Coming up on May 6th, the Miss Herriman Scholarship Pageant will be held at Fort Herriman Middle School at 7:00 p.m. Herriman City is also hosting this year in May, the first PRCA Rodeo on Memorial Weekend, May 27th and 29th. The rodeo will begin with a tribute to our military forces and for the young at heart a little mutton bustin'. The pre-rodeo will begin at 4:00 p.m. We hope that this event will be a great success and that residents old and new will enjoy this new event.

As we make our way into June, the Operations staff will have cots set up at the park because this month is totally jam packed with park festivities. The month kicks off on June 2nd and 3rd with the Utah Wrangler Division Finals Junior Rodeo. This is a final rodeo to the Wrangler Series; kids who have qualified at other rodeos will compete to move onto the National Finals that will be held in Gallup, New Mexico. June 14th is the start of the Fort Herriman Days Celebration. Wednesday night, June 14th begins with Horse Pulls; this is also a new event that has been added. The competition will be between horses and mules as well as the Riverton High School Football Team. Thursday the 16th will be the Oaker Bingham High School Rodeo Team running a junior rodeo for all of the kids in the area. This is an event that Herriman City has sponsored for the past six years and it has always been a great success and a lot of fun. On June 17th and 18th the Rodeo theme continues with a great hometown IMPRA Rodeo. This is the 3rd year running and we are excited to add fireworks to both Friday and Saturday nights. Please be aware of the fireworks in case your animals need to be taken inside on June 17, 18, and 24.

We are just getting started with the Fort Herriman Days Festivities. The Rosecrest Pavilion at W and M Butterfield Park will be busy for the next week. We are proud to announce the Princess and the Pizza Production. This is a children's play that will involve youth from the community. The play will take place on June 21st and 22nd at 7:00 p.m. On June 23rd at 6:00 p.m. you will see local chefs in the area with a Dutch Oven Cook Off. The night will finish up a relaxing evening of Cowboy Poetry, starting at 7:00 p.m. Saturday June 24th will be a busy day starting at 7:00 a.m. with Step Rock Run; which includes a 10K, 5K and a 1 mile run. The parade will kick off at Herriman Elementary at 9:00 a.m. and end at W and M Butterfield Park where all day long there will be activities; games, rides, booths, entertainment, and food. The day will finish with a fantastic fireworks show that will be sure to interest you.

Herriman City Parks
Chris Hales, Park Manager

Herriman City Parks Department is excited about a couple new additions to our parks. Herriman City has one of the largest splash pads in the area under construction. The City is using one of the existing parks and adding the splash pad. This park will now have a playground, soccer field, two gazebos with a barbeque at each gazebo and the new splash pad. It is scheduled for completion by Memorial Day with the grand opening to be on Memorial Day. The other park is going to be called Rosecrest Park and it will be approximately 8.5 acres of grass with over 100 trees along asphalt walking trails and crushed asphalt horse trails. This park will also have a large parking lot, restrooms, two soccer fields, three gazebos with picnic tables and a large playground targeted towards the 5-12 age group.

Now that spring is here the Operations Department is pressurizing the sprinkler systems. The restrooms will be open soon and garbage cans will be put out on all the parks that have them. Please report any damage or repairs that need to be made to the City Offices.

Juvenile Alcohol and Drug Use

Alcohol and drug use among our youth continues to be a concern to parents, schools, and law enforcement. Many cities recently held town hall meetings to discuss how we can better implement programs to specifically reduce the problem of underage drinking among our youth. These meetings were held to link parents with leaders in the community and other resources to present information and brainstorm ideas.

The Sheriff's Office, public schools, and the community are limited in what they can do and the role that they play. Parents are the key player in this arena. Every parent must take an active role in protecting their children from Alcohol and Drug use. The following are just a few ideas for consideration.

School Graduations are quickly approaching. We encourage parents to be very careful in reviewing their graduate's plans for the weeks preceding and following this important time in their lives. There are many activities to choose from. Many of these activities are well supervised and coordinated such as school sponsored graduation night events. As an example, Riverton High PTSA will be hosting an event at Boondock's for their student graduates.

Parents should be aware of unsupervised or poorly supervised activities where alcohol and/or drugs may be present and take steps to ensure that their son/daughter does not participate. Parents should prevent their son/daughter from attending any party where the home being used does not have parental supervision. The same advice applies when parents do not know the parents who are hosting the party. There are incidents where some adults feel it is appropriate to allow alcohol use by teens. They assume the alcohol use will take place anyway and that it is better to allow it under supervision than to allow them to go someplace where they are not supervised. Providing alcohol to a person under the age of 21 is illegal under all circumstances and will subject these adults to being arrested if caught.

Most of us are familiar with the concept that alcohol and tobacco are the gateway drugs that may lead to more serious drug use. This may no longer be true. Many parents and youth believe that the use of prescription medications is ok. The stigma attached with illegal drug use is not present due to a doctor having prescribed this medication. This approach is proving to be very dangerous.

The gateway drug for today's youth who may have never considered using alcohol or tobacco, is prescription pain medications. Nearly every household has a bottle of unused pain medication such as Lortab, Hydrocodone, and Oxycodone, to name a few. These pills are being stolen from the medicine cabinets with increased frequency. Their improper method of use creates a similar reaction in the body as Heroin. The street value of the prescription medication is higher than Heroin or Methamphetamine, so when the users access to pills runs out he/she then turns to the more notorious drugs. The addiction is severe and destroys many lives. Parents are strongly encouraged to destroy unused pain medications in their medicine cabinet rather than save them for an unforeseen day in the future. The risk of keeping them in the home is simply not worth it.

The Sheriff's Office recently held a meeting at Riverton High during parent teacher conferences for parents to discuss drug use concerns among youth. We greatly appreciated the attendance of those who came although the turnout was very small. The Sheriff's Office is very willing to present this same information to any group who would like to schedule a presentation.

This topic is too involved to appropriately cover in a brief newsletter. I hope that this provides something for parents in the Southwest area of the valley to consider. It is my hope that all of those who read this letter will take time to evaluate what is taking place in the lives of their sons or daughters. Assess the risks that are contained in your own home. Do not hesitate to take action and intervene in your son or daughters life. It may be their life that you save. For further information or to schedule a more in-depth discussion please contact the Southwest Precinct office at 254-0167.

Salt Lake County Animal Services

Temma Martin

What Can Salt Lake County Animal Services Do For You?

Salt Lake County Animal Services is probably the most comprehensive animal control agency in Utah, offering a wide variety of services to residents of Herriman. We have a full-time officer, Sergeant T. Sas, dedicated to the Herriman area from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, and other officers available to respond to calls in the evenings, overnight and on weekends. Our officers rescue stray animals from the streets, investigate cases of animal cruelty, respond to nuisance problems involving animals and help victims of animal bites, among many other duties. Pet parents who have had an animal escape are always happy when they find their pet has been picked up unharmed, and is safe and waiting at the shelter. One of the happiest scenes at Animal Services is the moment a lost pet is removed from its cage or kennel and reunited with its owner! Residents of Herriman can help facilitate that happy ending by ensuring that all dogs, cats and ferrets are wearing a current license and identification tags. A microchip also provides a secondary means of identifying a lost pet if the tags should accidentally come off. An added bonus is that licensed animals who can be identified in the field can be returned directly to their owner without ever having to make the trip into the shelter.

Anyone who has lost a pet should check the shelter every other day, and pick up one of our brochures that lists the locations of every local shelters. It also provides additional tips on how to improve the chances of finding a lost animal. In addition to checking the shelter in person, pet owners can watch the web for their lost pet. Our website, www.slcoanimalservices.org displays photographs of nearly every animal in our shelter, and the photos are updated four times a day. The only animals who do not appear on the site are those in quarantine, and animals who are too badly injured, too sick or too wild to be handled and photographed. Watching the web and checking the local shelters in person are both vital to finding your missing pet. Remember to check the shelters frequently, because most agencies receive too many animals to hold lost pets very long before they are adopted to a new family or euthanized.

The website is also a handy tool for anyone looking to adopt a new furry family member. All the healthy, friendly animals who are not claimed by their owners can be adopted when their stray holding time is up. This means there are literally thousands of beautiful, well-behaved pets who are in need of a new home each year. About a quarter of the animals we receive are purebreds, and visitors are always surprised by the quality of animals available for adoption. In 2005, Animal Services received 10,410 live dogs, cats, puppies and kittens, and fewer than 1,700 were adopted into new homes. We strongly encourage anyone who is looking for a new pet to "shop online" or come in for a visit, and give one of our wonderful pets a second chance at life!

In addition to helping stray animals and promoting adoptions, Animal Services has a full-time humane educator who visits Herriman schools to share our humane messages with students. She teaches children about responsible pet care, and how to safely interact with animals. She also discusses the concepts of empathy and compassion to help the students learn to show kindness and respect for living creatures. By instilling these values in our young people, we hope to create a better environment for animals in the future.

Finally, Animal Services cooperates with the No More Homeless Pets in Utah project to promote the importance of spaying and neutering. Since there are simply not enough homes for the animals who are already here, the only way to end the tragedy of pet overpopulation is to prevent additional animals from being born. To help solve this problem, No More Homeless Pets operates a mobile spay/neuter clinic which provides these surgeries at an extremely discounted price. Check their website, www.utahpets.org for upcoming visits to our area, as well as prices and details or call 1-866-PETSFIX.

Please stop by Salt Lake County Animal Services, at 511 West 3900 South, to learn more about what we do to help the animals in your community. Our shelter is open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5:30. Our phone number is 269-7499.

Herriman Building Department

Jesse Bullock, Building Official

Building Permits Required

With the blue skies and temperatures reaching the 70's we become anxious to start those home improvement projects. Remember that most construction work requires a permit and inspections by the City Building Department. However, let's take a look at work that does NOT require a permit.

Work that does NOT require a permit

According to the International Residential Code, here's a list of work that can be done without a permit and that does not require inspections:

- Sheds that are less than 200 square feet (i.e. 12 X 16); however, if it is wired with electrical lights or outlets, it will still need an electrical permit
- Fences not over 6 feet high
- Decks not over 30 inches above the finish ground level
- Prefabricated swimming pools that are entirely above the ground and does not exceed two feet in depth; however, you must contact Herriman City Building Department for information on fencing requirements

- Portable spa (hot tub) with an electrical cord and plug (not 'hard-wired')

Also be aware that all retaining walls, regardless of height, require a permit. This is a change from previous years. If the wall is four feet or less in height there will be no charge. You will need to submit to the Building Department office a copy of your site or plot plan showing where the wall is located on your property and length of the wall in feet. Then we will need a drawing showing full design and details of the wall construction. We have copies available in the office of a drawing you can use for the 'design and details' drawing. After the permit is issued you will need to arrange for an inspection before the rocks/blocks are placed and then after the wall is finished. If the retaining wall is taller than four feet, the wall will need to be engineered and two copies of stamped engineering submitted along with the site plan. There will be a fee charged for a retaining wall permit if it's more than four feet in height. After the permit is issued you will need to arrange for an inspection before the rocks/blocks are placed and then after the wall is finished.

As always, if there is a question as to whether or not you need to purchase a permit for a specific improvement project, please contact the Herriman City Building Department at 446-5327 between the hours of 7:30 and 4:30.

Erosion Control

As spring tries to wrestle between winter and summer a major issue that arises each and every year is mud and dirt in the streets. As the City continues to combat the forces of silt and mud tracking within streets and storm drains, using the street sweeper and the vactor truck, it has been found that cleaning is not the answer. However, prevention is the key to solving the problem of erosion and sediment control. Many of you may know that erosion and sediment control are major issues facing the nation. In order to reduce pollutants from entering lakes, rivers and streams the EPA enacted federal law to regulate storm water discharge from municipal and industrial storm water systems, the Utah Department of Environmental Quality, Division of Water Quality administers the program. Phase I that targeted construction activities of five acres or larger went into effect in 1992. Phase II followed in targeting smaller projects. With the phase two requirements all municipal separate storm sewer systems (MS4) are required to obtain a discharge permit before discharging their storm water. In order to help stop this growing problem, Herriman City and many other cities have filed jointly with Salt Lake County for this plan. The City in accordance with the MS4 permit has implemented several requirements to attempt to stop erosion before it starts; all construction projects that disturb more than one acre of property shall have a storm water pollution and prevention plan; no ramps are allowed in the public right of way, and no inspections on homes will be allowed until the site has been cleaned. The Storm Water Prevention plan helps show the contractor how to reduce erosion control and sediment control.

One area that the City continues to have problems with is during the construction of landscaping of the individual lot owners. Contrary to belief, dirt, topsoil, and other materials are not allowed to be dumped on public streets. All materials required to landscape must be deposited on the individual's property. If dirt or debris is found in front of your home the Code Enforcement Officer will be getting in touch with you. Although the idea of dirt on the asphalt may be a temporary one, many problems can arise from leaving dirt in the road. Ignoring the obvious safety issues for vehicles and pedestrians, the main problem is erosion of the dirt piles. Increased sediment load not only destroys water quality for people and animals, but also increases maintenance for the City. The storm drain system must be cleaned and maintained to control storm water, not mud. It is very costly to clean the storm drain and difficult to properly maintain the storm drain as well. Other areas that see impact are the landscaped detention ponds. The storm drain system is vital in preventing flooding by passing the water to a controlled area, but this is impossible if the pipe or catch basins are filled with dirt and debris. The City will continue to combat the dirt and mud with our sweeper and vactor truck but we need each and every one of you to help keep our streets black rather than brown.

Important Notice

Summer is nearly here and thoughts are turning to picnics, vacations, and cross-connection control for sprinklers.

This notice is to inform or remind those residents that have a lawn irrigation system that a backflow assembly is required by the State Health Department. These assemblies must be tested by a certified backflow technician annually. If it is a newly installed assembly it must be tested within 10 days of initial use. A copy of the test results must be submitted to the Herriman City Offices.

The City's cross-connection program helps ensure the safety of our water system for all Herriman residents by eliminating the risk of potential contamination. A cross connection is a connection between the public water system and any other connection. The connection between a lawn irrigation system and the City's main water supply is considered to be one of these connections. The installation of an approved backflow prevention assembly on lawn irrigations systems can prevent possible contamination of the City's water system with contaminants such as lawn fertilizers, chemicals, pesticides, and animal waste.

Another common cross-connection is through hose bibs and yard hydrants especially when used for watering troughs. A hose bib vacuum breaker can be installed to help prevent a cross-connection. These devices can be purchased at most home improvement or plumbing supply stores.

Backflow prevention is very important. With your help we can ensure the safety of our drinking water.

If you have any questions or concerns please feel free to contact Justin in the Water Department at 446-5323. For more information you can visit our website at www.herriman.org. Please submit a copy of your backflow preventer annual test to: Herriman City, 13011 S. Pioneer Street, Herriman, UT 84065.

Salt Lake County Library Services
Herriman Branch

Herriman Library would like to welcome a new staff member! Daniel Sorenson is a life long resident of Herriman and a cheerful addition to our staff.

The Salt Lake County Library System recently started a new program called "One County, One Book." Miss Herriman 2005-2006

Rachel Jensen

First off, I would like to thank the Herriman City for the wonderful opportunity I was given this past year to be involved within the community. We have such fantastic residents who are willing to give of their time and talents to better their surroundings, and it has truly has been a privilege to associate with them.

Some of the highlights for me this year included participating in the wonderful Hello Broadway production, in which I was able to associate with many talented residents, both on the acting and production sides. On Memorial Day, two statues were unveiled at Herriman City Cemetery. One depicting Herriman's heritage with a pioneer family and the other, military service with a soldier boy. I've attended community events such as the annual Pumpkin Festival, Talent Show and the recent Easter Egg Hunts held at W and M Butterfield Park. Through each of these activities it has been wonderful to work with the many City employees and volunteers who serve with such a willing heart. Also, it has been great to see those who attend these events and the enjoyment experienced while there.

Through my platform, Bullying: It's Not a Rite of Passage; I have been given many opportunities. From August to December, 2005, I had the privilege to be an intern for First Lady Mary Kaye Huntsman's office and be involved with her Power in You program. The program focuses on life challenges that any teenager may be faced with and gives them the encouragement to rise above them and excel. The program offers peer-mentors to lend advice and support from someone who has walked in similar shoes. The most recent involvement I had with the Power in You was a concert featuring country artist, Collin Raye. The proceeds from the concert went to benefit the Power in You and to enable its continued growth. This has been a phenomenal experience to be involved with such an altruistic program.

I have grown so much this past year and have had many experiences that touched my heart. I've been inspired by the children's stories of bullying and the trials they've overcome. Many times they have taught me how to become a better person. Once again thank you Herriman City for the support you have so willingly offered this past year. I hope to represent this community and everything about it in July during the Miss Utah pageant. I wish the very best for the next Miss Herriman and hope that she too will grow to love, even more, the community in which she lives.

Herriman Historical Committee A Recipient of the Citizens of Legacy Award 2005

William Charles Crump

William Charles Crump was born in 1830 in England, the ninth child of William and Martha Betton Crump. As a young adult he heard missionaries of the Mormon Church teaching. William joined the Church in 1849, and soon afterward labored as a missionary with other traveling Elders in England. But he had a desire to leave England and join the Saints gathering in Utah. He sailed to America on the "Ellen Maria" in 1852. He joined the Abraham O. Smoot Company which arrived in Utah in September of 1852.

When he arrived in Utah, he was assigned to Taylorsville to help build up the settlement there and construct a fort as protection from the Indians. He also served as a guard at the south point of the valley and also on the west side. In the fall of 1853 Brigham Young asked for families to go to Butterfield Settlement (later named Fort Herriman), and provide strength to this struggling settlement. William volunteered and later helped build the fort there.

William married Margaret Ann James in 1855. They were the parents of 9 children. William took a second wife, Sarah Cornick, in 1872, and with her, had 7 children. William was a leader not only in his family, but also in the community. He participated in the Echo Canyon War during the winter of 1857-1858. He returned home for a short time, and was asked again to return to Echo Canyon for guard duty. His wife, Margaret accompanied him on the second trip. They returned home in April to find the residents of Herriman packed and ready to evacuate the settlement, because of the threat of Johnston's Army. They traveled south with the community spending about three months near Payson, then returning to Herriman.

William helped to quarry rock from Step Rock Mountain for the building of the old rock church. With several other men in town, he ran a sorghum mill, making a rich, brown edible syrup from the sugar cane they raised. He was asked again to go on guard duty, patrolling the west and south ends of the valley.

William served in many callings in the Church in the late 1800's and last of which was the Patriarch of the West Jordan Stake by President Joseph F. Smith. In this capacity he gave hundreds of blessings to faithful members of the LDS Church.

William was known for completing his daily tasks in a very cheerful sort of way. He often said, "there is always a great and wise purpose in all that we are called on to suffer and endure, and great is the wisdom we gain through such experiences". He taught his children and grandchildren that there is dignity in persevering through tribulations, sorrows and disappointments.

He died just one week short of his birthday, in March 1904, leaving a legacy of over 50 years in Herriman. Many of the Citizens of Legacy descendants still live in the Herriman area today.

This short version of William Charles Crump's history is taken from various histories that have been written about his life and is not meant to be a complete history.

The Historical Committee hopes you have enjoyed reading the histories in the Newsletter, and would again like to ask that if you have photos or histories you would be willing to share with us, that you contact the City Office, leave your name and number, and one of the committee members will contact you to set up an appointment.
