Volume 23

July 2005

From Mayor J. Lynn Crane

Fort Herriman Days 2005 is now history and stands as perhaps the most successful City celebration ever. Fort Herriman Days is sponsored by the City as a time of celebration and participation, a time of recognition and appreciation, a tribute to days gone by and the recognition of the struggles and labors that have been given for our spot on the earth. It is a time for residents, especially the children of our town. It is a time to establish and build upon community identity and appreciation for the community in which we live.

June 1, 2005, completed the first six years of Herriman's incorporation. They have been years of activity and accomplishment. At the risk of some redundancy, I would like to review some of the achievement of the past six years.

Significant among those that will be discussed is the framework and established policy that provides for order and consistency in managing the unprecedented growth that has occurred within Herriman. Present population of the City is approximately 13,000, a number that virtually no one anticipated or predicted. This means an increase of 16.5 times the beginning population of 777. Herriman's response and management of this growth has captured the eyes of planners across the Valley and is a tribute to those who have maintained control of the process with order and policy that has, for the most part, been very positive for the neighborhoods of Herriman. The City initially contracted with Sunrise Engineering for developmental services and the application and inspection framework is largely a result of guidance and recommendation from Sunrise. We express appreciation for its service and direction in this area. Immeasurable credit also belongs to Glenn Graham, Herriman City Planner, from the beginning. The City now has a complete professional and efficient staff that protects and maintains the developmental process. The professional processing and management of the tremendous influx of population will prove to be one of the most noteworthy of all achievements in these infant years of our incorporated history.

While there is never enough economical development within a municipality, progress is evident. Smith's, of course, continues to be the crown jewel in this area. The community has demonstrated its willingness to support the local merchants and this is obvious with the volume of business Smith's achieves each week. The Chevron Station and Convenience Store, fast food services, other retail services, and now the Herriman Plaza development will continue to add to the tax base that is so important for the economic well-being of the City. It is anticipated that sales tax revenues for the 2005-2006 budget year will exceed half a million dollars. This is a credible start in the effort to offset dependency upon developmental revenues. Other opportunities for new retail developmental services continue and I believe will yield results. Other related services are also the result of the economic development. Medical, financial, and other services all enhance the quality of life for residents of Herriman.

One of the crowning achievements since beginning is the design and construction of the Herriman Community Services Center. The City was fortunate to be able to lease space in the Lion's Community Center in the beginning. This fifty year old facility, originally an army barracks at Camp Kearns, was moved to the location in the 1950's. It was a wonderful building that served the community very well over the course of its life. The land and the building were purchased by the City and, with economic support from the local Lions Club, the Herriman Community Center was designed and constructed in 2002 and was occupied in November of 2002. Two improvement projects have been completed since then along with the expansion project that is presently in progress. It is significant to point out that each of these improvement projects have been completed without adding to debt service on the building, including the present expansion. These improvements have been funded and paid by existing general fund revenues. Upon completion, the expansion should provide sufficient space for immediate need and for some years to come.

Another significant achievement since the beginning is the negotiation for location of the Herriman Branch of the Salt Lake County Library System. The library is an extremely popular public service and increases in circulation with each month of its existence. With limited space, (the building expansion will increase library space as well), librarian, Leslie Schow, and her staff have provided tremendous service to the community with increased collection numbers, hours and days of service. The City remains committed to dialogue with the County Library System for the planning and construction of a full-service library as soon as possible.

Any list of achievements would be incomplete without recognizing the development of the park and recreation facilities throughout the City. Beginning with a wonderful gift of land and generous donations of resources and time, the W & M Butterfield Park has been developed into one of the finest facilities in the State with provisions for a broad array of recreational interests, including equestrian, athletics fields for football, soccer, and lacrosse, and a beautiful and well designed little league baseball quad that has earned the praises of the state little league organization. A wonderful pavilion has been constructed to provide services for city celebration and events, public arts and concerts, and opportunities for many private parties and activities. Other parks throughout the City provide recreational and outdoor facilities for residents. Main Street Park has been improved into a first class facility. Tuscany Park, and numerous other neighborhood parks and open space areas add to the opportunities for activity throughout the community. This effort has generated much positive comment and recognition from residents.

One significant objective in the beginning was the expansion and improvement of water service to our area. The Herriman Municipal Water System is the result and has added increased water storage, fire flow protection, and distribution services. A large percentage of the system distribution has been upgraded for "drive-by" meter reading, state of the art SCADA electronic monitoring of the system status, and an efficient and trained staff for operation and maintenance of the water service.

Space will limit the number of areas that can be mentioned in this article. Attention to flood drainage systems, street lighting, improvements at the cemetery highlighted by the recent unveiling of sculptures recognizing the sacrifice and achievement of those who stood before us, road improvement and maintenance, and numerous other activities are all part of the tremendous success of the past six years.

However, I would be remiss without commenting on two additional areas. I am certain that all cities are pleased with the volunteer effort within their cities, but I can state, without reservation, that none are better than the volunteers that have been a part of Herriman over the past six years. They are too many to mention. In addition to the hundreds of project volunteers, the City has organized a wonderful Arts Council and Historical Committee. These councils are composed of volunteers who offer their time and resources at the rate of many hours each month and each has made significant contributions to the successes shared by Herriman residents in the past six years. Second, is the City Staff that, from top to bottom, is recognized throughout the Salt Lake Valley. In terms of attitude, commitment, loyalty, work ethic, team support, and any other criteria by which they could be measured, Herriman City employees are without equal anywhere. The City has a work force that functions as a "family" and I cannot extend enough recognition and appreciation to Herriman employees who work every day with their hearts, integrity, and with a desire to serve residents of the City.

In conclusion, may I remind all residents that one of the original objectives was to maintain a "historical and community identity." I believe this objective has been achieved. Herriman is recognized along the Wasatch Front with its own identity and a new City that, in general, has done things right. I recently read the small book, "Who Moved My Cheese?" by Spencer Johnson, M.D. It speaks of a way to deal with change in the work place and in life. The changes that have come to our "spot on the earth" were unanticipated and, quite truthfully to some unwanted, but nevertheless occurred. I congratulate everyone involved who has demonstrated the ability to adapt to the change quickly and enjoy the change that has happened. Herriman remains a wonderful place to call home.

Herriman City Operations

Brett geo. Wood, Operations Manager

Since our Fort Herriman Days celebration we have had a great opportunity to refocus some of our efforts. We are now busy with open spaces and native areas, cutting down the grasses to lower possible fire hazards. The Fire Marshall has been impressed that Herriman City keeps them at a lower level to protect our residents from that fire hazard risk. The huge amount of moisture we received this spring allowed everything to grow at an accelerated rate. Now we have high temperatures and high winds making all of that growth dry out. This weather, as well as a few man-made problems have caused some of our parks to look browner than we would care to have them look. These problems are being corrected and we should be all caught up by the end of July.

I would like to call upon you as residents to keep your eyes open for any problems at our Herriman City park restrooms. We have been trying to leave these restrooms open for regular use at these parks. However, we have been experiencing difficulties with children creating an untidy condition. If you could keep a watchful eye when you are utilizing these parks and notice any misuse of these restrooms or notice the restrooms in disarray, please contact the City so that we can promptly take care of the situation and keep them in good condition for all residents to make use of.

In the month of August we will be ready to start a few new projects including the Rosecrest Park which will be located about 13850 S. Rosecrest Road. We will also be improving some of the trail systems by putting a hard surface down to make it more enjoyable for those biking, pushing strollers, and those who have difficulty with uneven terrain. As you can see, we still have plenty to do in the park areas before our summer ends.

Herriman City's new fiscal year started July 1st. As of July 1, Herriman City has continued contracting with Salt Lake County for our Animal Control Services. Salt Lake County has selected Officer Teresa Sass to be assigned to Herriman City on a day-to-day basis. She will cover Herriman City and the unincorporated part of Salt Lake County. Officer Sass comes highly recommended and has many years of experience with livestock and other small animals. She will be a great asset to Herriman to enforce some of the animal regulations here, so that we may enjoy the freedom of owning animals and pets. She will be out here on the day of the Big Fix to answer any concerns or questions you might have. You will also be able to reach her anytime through the County. The City is happy for this change. In the past we have only had an officer out here for just a few hours a day and on an as-needed basis. Now we will be able to have an officer here five days a week and possibly weekends as needed. When she was asked why she wanted to come to Herriman to work, she replied that it was because of the different variety of animals we have here in Herriman. Herriman has dogs, cats, snakes, birds, llamas, alpacas, buffalo, horses, and many more varieties. This variety of animals makes the job more exciting and challenging. We look forward to having Teresa serve in our City.

Speaking of a new fiscal year, this year the City has brought the Herriman Elementary School Crossing Guards in-house. Herriman City has contracted through the County for the assistance of crossing guards in the past, but the City has noticed some inconsistencies and felt that we could improve upon this service by bringing them in-house. The City will keep the same faces you have come to know protecting your children and the hope is to be able to provide local service to them promptly when it is needed. Therefore, starting as of the new 2005-2006 school year for our elementary children, the crossing guards will be employed through Herriman City.

Herriman City is constantly looking at new ways and taking in new ideas to provide better service to our residents. The Mayor continually lets City staff know that the reason for local government is for local service. Herriman City staff members are here to provide service. So, in areas that we feel we can provide a better service and keep the same cost, the City has and will continue to make those changes.

Another improvement with the new fiscal year and with City contracts and staffing is that the City has increased its Sheriff service contract with the addition of two new officers assigned to this area. These officers will be beneficial for increased patrol and providing service 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Thinking about the sheriffs and their willingness to serve in this area, they have made a request to be assigned to Herriman because of the City's commitment to our residents here. Recently, we had a few sensitive incidents happen here that impressed us for a greater need for more protection through our Sheriff's department. The professionalism of the Sheriff's department is outstanding. I would like to tell the residents here how proud I am to see them pull together to work with Sheriff's Department. It reminds me of how unique the people are that live, work, and serve together, and create this great community. God bless you all. Thanks for all that you do.

Watching Out For Your Neighbors

Many people witness activities that they deem to be suspicious in nature. It may be a person knocking at a front door, then walking around to the back yard, of their vacationing neighbor's home. Or it may be a car that has been parked in the neighborhood and abandoned that you have not seen before. It could also be a strong chemical odor that comes from a home every so often and lasts for several hours to a day.

The best crime prevention tool is you and your neighbors. Many crimes occur unnoticed; however there are also many crimes that are witnessed but are not recognized as such at the time. Many potential witnesses choose to believe that all is well and ignore suspicious activities. Other witnesses to suspicious activities take some time to think about what they just saw and delay their call to the Sheriff's Office until it is too late.

You should get to know at least a few of your neighbors. Let them know when you are away so that they can keep an eye on your home. Become familiar with the normal activities for your neighborhood. I still remember having a neighbor call one morning to check to see if my family was ok. We always open our blinds in the morning and had not done so on this one occasion due to coming home late from a trip. Our neighbor recognized this as being unusual and took action. I appreciated the fact that I had a neighbor that cared enough about me to look out for my interest.

Many thefts and burglaries occur while neighbors are watching. If you see something unusual, it is best to be cautious and call the Sheriff's Office and we will respond to check the situation out. An abandoned car in your neighborhood could be broken down, just purchased from a neighbor or it could turn out to be a stolen car waiting to be recovered.

Strong odors that irritate the senses coming from a house could be a result of an active methamphetamine lab, or it could be the result of perfectly normal activities such as refinishing hardwood floors or some other activity.

The Sheriff's Office is happy to respond on suspicious activities. We would rather respond and determine that everything is ok than be called later by a homeowner whose house has been broken into and their items of value stolen.

Camping and Boating Safety

Vacationing is something most individuals look forward to each year. With the summer months now in full swing, the Unified Fire Authority would like to remind the community of just a few important safety tips while recreating.

A camp site may become your "home away from home," and as such there are many safety measures that should be taken - just as they would be in your actual home. Taking these measures may prevent tragedy at a time when relaxation is the desired goal.

1. Never leave lanterns, camp stoves, matches, or lighters within the reach of small children.
2. Be aware of fuel leaks (LPG and other flammable liquids) involving camping equipment and recreational vehicles.
3. Never store flammable or combustible fuels near a heat source, such as a fire or lanterns.

4. Build camp fires in designated areas only, and be alert to any posted restrictions prohibiting the use of open camp fires. Always be aware of surrounding trees or overhanging limbs, and set up barbecues/camp fires away from them.
5. Make sure to put out all campfire and barbecues with water. Then spread out any remaining coals and cover them with dirt.
6. Do not use barbecues, lanterns, or any other product (which might give off flammable vapors or other toxic gases) inside of a tent. When cooking inside a trailer, make sure to have plenty of ventilation.
7. Stay away from trees and water during thunder/electrical storms. Seek shelter inside if possible.

Boating can be one of the most fun experiences while enjoying the great outdoors. However, it can also be one of the most dangerous for those who do not keep in mind the following safety tips.

1. Shut off your engine before adding fuel.
2. Always wear floatation devices when on or near the water.
3. Never mix alcohol with boating. Over fifty percent of boating related accidents and injuries are caused as a direct result of alcohol consumption before or during boating activities.
4. Know the boat's load limit and do not exceed it.
5. It is recommended that individuals spend no more than three hours on the water at a time. Noise, motion, sun, wind, and glare from the water can all contribute to decreased reaction time. It may also lead to ill health and injury.

Future Transportation Needs

Herriman City continues to experience significant growth resulting in the need to proactively plan for our future transportation needs. Past growth rates of up to 30 percent on an annual basis have prompted the City to update planning studies that are needed to effectively address our evolving community. With the challenges of this growth in mind, the City recently began an update of the City's Transportation Master Plan. Civil Science, a local engineering firm specializing in municipal engineering and planning, has been contracted to provide the City with analysis and recommendations for the development of the City's transportation and road network out to the year 2030. Civil Science also has partnered with other specialized professionals including Wilbur Smith and Associates and Lewis Young Robertson and Birmingham to effectively cover all aspects of the study. The objectives of the study are as follows:

- Provide a Transportation Master Plan that will effectively address the needs of Herriman City.
- Develop a Capital Facility Plan that will accurately predict the timing and the cost of needed transportation improvements.
- Update Impact Fees to accurately assess the cost and impact of future users upon the transportation system.

The Master Plan will document the latest thinking in terms of transportation problems, needs and solutions. The plan will also integrate other planning features such as UDOT plans for the Mountain View Corridor, regional plans including neighboring cities and the regional traffic model that encompasses the entire Wasatch Front. Coordinating with these other plans will allow us to effectively plan for Herriman's role in the area-wide transportation system. The study will also consider alternate forms of transportation including trails, bikeways and mass transit. Innovative features such as modern roundabouts will also be evaluated by Civil Science to assess improvement of the overall function and efficiency of the City's transportation system.

The Master Plan will initially focus on the existing makeup of the transportation system including traffic operations, pedestrian accessibility, and the condition of the existing roads. Then future conditions will be modeled using data from the regional traffic model which predicts growth patterns and related traffic demands. This model will show traffic volumes for several planning intervals including years 2005, 2010, 2015, 2020 and 2030. The Civil Science team will then use this information to evaluate the types and sizes of improvements needed, the timing of the improvements and where they need to occur. The model will also provide valuable information to understand how much of the need actually results from new growth. Ultimately, the plan will show all necessary transportation improvements including all roads that are larger than the standard residential street.

A Capital Facility Plan (CFP) will then be prepared based upon the results of the Master Planning study. The improvements needed will then be prioritized and used to develop cost information. The CFP will include cost estimates of proposed improvements that are based upon current costs of similar improvements recently constructed either in Herriman or along the Wasatch Front. The CFP will provide a valuable budgeting tool for the City to proactively look at addressing transportation needs by augmenting limited City funds with either state or federal sources. The City is aggressively pursuing these other funding sources to defray the overall cost of transportation infrastructure within the City.

Upon completion of the Capital Facility Plan an Impact Fee study will be prepared that will evaluate and recommend fees that should be paid by new users. The development of these fees will be performed based upon current state law that requires the appropriate allocation of new infrastructure to the actual impact of the new users.

The schedule for completion of the studies is as follows:

- Draft Studies: September 2005
- Public Hearing: November 2005
- Final Study: December 2005

Throughout the development of these studies we encourage you to provide your comment and suggestions. You can contact the City staff at 446-5323, or drop by the City Offices. Additional information may also be posted on the City web site as the study progresses. The City staff looks forward to working closely with each of you to develop effective solutions that address our future transportation needs.

Pet Overpopulation – Get the Facts!

Spring and summer are the busiest months at animal shelters all across the state. Why? Because animals allowed to breed freely give birth more often during these months than any other time. Consequently, the number of homeless, unwanted animals skyrocket and the shelter is soon full, with no room to spare.

People often don't realize the far-reaching results of having "just one litter." The fact is if you allow your pet to breed even once, the consequences are tremendous. Each time you place one of your puppies or kittens in a home, there is one fewer potential home for another animal...remember, just recently Salt Lake County Animal Services had to euthanize (put to sleep) an average of 17 animals for no other reason than there is simply no more room in the shelter and no homes available for these wonderful companions. In addition, every time a litter is born, new breeders are born. In less than a year, all of the little ones in your pet's litter could be having litters of their own.

Salt Lake County Animal Services takes in approximately 12,500 animals every year. This shelter is just one of 11 tax-payer-funded animal shelters along the Wasatch Front. The Humane Society of Utah, a private organization, is located just a mile from our shelter, and takes in about the same number of owner-surrendered animals every year. That is over 25,000 animals just counting the pets in these two shelters!

Here are some other pet overpopulation facts you may not know:

- More than 70,000 puppies and kittens are born in the United States each day. Compare this to the 10,000 human births in the U.S. each day.
- Only 1 in 10 puppies or kittens born will live to adulthood in a happy, healthy home.
- Over 30% of the animals entering shelters are identified as purebred.
- In 6 years, one female dog and its offspring can be the source of 67,000 puppies.
- In just 7 years, one female cat and its young can produce 420,000 kittens.

So what can you do to help with this problem? It is simple! Spay and neuter your pets, adopt a pet rather than buy one and make sure your pet always has identification so he can be returned to you if lost. If every person did these three simple things, pet overpopulation would not exist. Remember, it takes effort from everyone to solve a community problem, and this very sad problem desperately needs to be solved.

The Big Fix Mobile is Coming!

Mark your calendars for the Big Fix Mobile spay and neuter clinic, which will visit the Herriman City Offices on July 14th. Take advantage of extremely discounted spay and neuter surgeries, vaccination and microchips. For more information, visit www.utahpets.org or call 364-0370, extension 4.

Vaccinations and microchips for animals that are not having surgery are available between 8:00 – 10:00 a.m. Appointments are not available for surgery so arrive early. Surgery intake begins at 8:00 a.m.

Code Enforcement
Officer Dave Winters

As Herriman City Code Enforcement Officer, I investigate complaints of Municipal Code violations relating to health, safety, nuisances, housing and zoning. Complaints are received by phone or by e-mail.

Once a complaint is received, I investigate the problem. A warning notice may be mailed or issued to the responsible parties informing them of an alleged violation. It is the party's responsibility to remedy the problem and/or contact the Code Enforcement Officer. Failure to correct any problems may result in further enforcement action.

- No parking or storage of inoperable vehicles on premises. An "inoperable vehicle" means any vehicle not currently registered or licensed in any state, or a vehicle that has the following conditions: dismantled or broken windows, flat tires, missing doors, missing windows, missing fenders, missing hood, missing trunk, will not start, or is in a condition that would result in the vehicle's failure to pass state safety inspection.
- No parking of commercial vehicles, agricultural vehicles or trailers of any type on any public street, in a residential area for a period of time longer than 3 consecutive hours.
- All weeds on a property shall be maintained so they do not exceed 6 inches in height.
- No posting of signs or banners on the public right-of-way or public property. This includes "for sale", "yard sale" type of signs illegally placed by companies, citizens.

I hope to work in partnership with the people of Herriman City to provide education and enforcement, to promote and maintain a safe and desirable community consistent with health and safety regulations. Please feel free to contact me at the Herriman City offices or by e-mail at dwinters@herriman.org, to discuss any code enforcement issues you may have.

Pool Permits

The days are getting hot and we have seen a surge in the number of swimming pool permits. Because they can be attractive—and dangerous—to young children, in-ground and above-ground pools should be surrounded by a fence or other barrier. Small, inflatable pools and portable pools must also be protected. The International Building Code states that any pool with more than 24 inches of water has to have a four-foot fence or other barrier around it. Any gates in the fence must be self-closing and self-latching. Other things to consider when installing a pool:

- Building permit requirements
- Zoning requirements
- Electrical clearances and utility easements
- Insurance policies

When conducting remodeling, construction or any type of work on your home, you should always contact your local building department beforehand to determine what permits are needed and what codes must be followed. The same rule applies when needing a pool permit. Any pool deeper than 24 inches needs a permit and must meet the requirements above. These are very important laws to be followed to ensure community safety. If you have any questions about this or other building related code subjects, please call the Herriman City Building Department at 446-5327.
